

YANKS REACH WORLD WAR 1 BATTLEFIELD

The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

THE GREAT MILITARY TRAP continues to close with accelerated speed about the desperate Hitler, crushing in toward doomed Germany both from the freshly mounting Russian front and from the speeding armored columns of the United Nations in the west.

The only question that remains is how long the already beaten Nazis can stand off utter collapse. The Allies are rushing in an effort to turn the trick before the bad weather of late autumn arrives to impede offensives.

There are three major Allied operations which are especially noteworthy. These are the great northward turning movement growing out of the battle of the Seine and Paris, the sensational Russian drive into Romania, and the fresh assault against the Vistula line above Warsaw by the Red army.

Supreme Allied headquarters in France confirm that American troops east of Paris have swung northward and reached the Marne river-famous battle field of two world wars. This means that the western Allies are well set to carry out a flanking movement against the Germans above the Seine river and along the coast of the English channel.

The Hitlerites must begin their great withdrawal northward toward Belgium and their own frontier quickly or face disaster for the already greatly weakened forces of their 15th army which is holding along the line of the Seine and guarding the channel coast opposite England. As a matter of fact, disaster hangs over them anyway, for in their retreat they cannot escape the eagle eye of the vast Allied air fleet which will chop them to pieces by scores of thousands as they flee. Their chances of carrying out a successful rearguard action to protect their retreat are growing more slim daily as the Allied position improves.

THE SITUATION in the eastern theater presents momentous possibilities. The terrific Red drive down into Romania has already smashed the defenses of the famous Galati gap which is the gateway into the rolling plains of the Danube basin. This gap is about 50 miles wide and lies between the expansive estuary of the Danube, with its many mouths, and the Carpathian mountains.

When the Muscovites broke through that gap they breached the whole Balkan keg and made it impossible for the Germans to hold this great peninsula. The Hitlerites

BOOSTERS BENEFIT BRINGS IN $389.99

A net income of $389.99 was derived from the Salem Boosters club benefit football twin-bill at Reilly stadium Friday night, Arthur S. Brown, treasurer, said today.

With a crowd of 2,000 people, including servicemen and youngsters who were admitted free, Boosters club officials said they were well pleased with the wholehearted support given the project.

The refreshment stand netted the Salem Jay-Teen, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, around $75, officials estimated.

ENEMY TOLL IN SOUTH FRANCE RUNNING HIGH

Casualties Over 50 Percent: Americans Reach Rhone Valley

BY GEORGE TUCKER
ROME, Aug. 28.—More than half of all German soldiers garrisoning southern France prior to the Allied landings are believed to have been killed, wounded or captured in less than two weeks, and today the tattered remnants were fighting a frantic battle in the Rhone valley to escape a trap.

American troops have reached the Rhone valley north of Montellimar, 100 airline miles north of Marseille, after a march of 200 miles in two days, and have cut off the line of retreat of the German 11th armored division and other troops to the south, field dispatches announced today.

At least 50,000 enemy front line troops were estimated to have been knocked out of the war in the invasion of southern France to date.

The German 11th division was being pressed from the south by other American units, dispatches said, and was being harassed by Marquis in the hills to the west.

Patch's Men Catch Up
The Germans were making a fierce effort to cut a way through to Valence, 25 miles north of Montellimar, it was said.

The Germans were confronted by the additional menace of "Butler's task force"—the mobile column commanded by Brig. Gen. Frederick Butler, which several days ago reached Frenoble, 70 miles north-east of Montellimar, and whose activities have not been reported since.

The Germans were attempting to withdraw northward through the Rhone valley when a column from Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's advancing army fell upon them and, according to dispatches, a headquarters announcement said, Montellimar is about 100 miles north of Marseille.

It was estimated that about 15,000 of the battered German 19th army have been eliminated. This included elements of the German 11th panzer and 198th infantry divisions, which had been reinforced by scattered elements of three other enemy infantry divisions.

The loss of this force means at least 50,000 Germans front line soldiers have been eliminated.

Humping the Nazis in their flight up the Rhone has been the work of the Allied air force, cutting bridges from underneath them and making withdrawals both hazardous and costly. The chances of the Nazis to pull east and north of Valence, 28 miles north of Montellimar, were diminishing with each day's fighting.

If the Germans have enough speed left to outstep Patch's forward columns and can find a way to keep the Allied air force from slashing their communications too severely, their one chance of withdrawal appears to lie beyond Lyon through the flat country north of Geneva. This would bring them out at the German border.

Quads, All Boys, Born To Wife of Soldier

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Aug. 28.—Four tiny baby boys slept in incubators in Hall County Memorial hospital today while their 23-year-old mother, wife of an army private, repeated to attendants, "I don't know what I am going to do with all those babies."

The quadruplets, weighing approximately three pounds each, were born to slim, auburn-haired Mrs. Charles E. Lee between 6 and 7 p. m. yesterday.

Doctors said the infants, normal and apparently healthy, had a good chance to live. Two of them were placed under oxygen tents.

Pvt. Lee, the babies' 25-year-old father who is stationed at Camp Blanding, Fla., when informed of their arrival last night exclaimed, "I'm very happy but I surely wish I could go home to see them. I guess I've got a job cut out for me after the war."

Mrs. Lee lives on a farm with her parents. Her husband, a former sawmill worker, has been in the army since April. They have a three-year-old daughter, Betty Mae.

'Murderers' Were Merely Giving Dog Decent Burial

(By Associated Press)
CANTON, Aug. 28.—"And I think there's been a murder." Concluded an excited telephone voice, which had related to the Stark county sheriff an episode in which two men had been seen burying a large box in a Canton cemetery and then driving away in a car.

Pursuing the license number supplied by the telephone voice, two deputies collared the men, returning to the cemetery, exhumed the box—and released the men with apologies.

The box contained the body of a dog which died of old age.

SOVIETS ENTER PLOESTI AREA

Other Troops Reach Hungarian Border at Carpathian Pass

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Aug. 28.—Russian troops have reached the Hungarian border, the German radio asserted tonight.

The Russians were said to have reached the border at "one of the Carpathian passes."

MOSCOW, Aug. 28.—Two huge mobile Russian armies raced into the rich Ploesti oil region of Romania and toward the capital of Bucharest today after smashing the Galati gap defenses and bowing over ineffective Nazi resistance.

Front dispatches said Nazi storm troops were threatening the German troops in efforts to make a stand. There was sporadic resistance, but the armies of Gen. Feodor I. Tolbukhin and Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky appeared to have broken the back of the Nazi forces before Bucharest.

(A Bucharest communique said Romanian troops going over to the Allies struck the Germans at the oil fields of Ramnoul-Sarat, 75 miles northeast of Bucharest. Ploesti is 57 miles southwest of the advancing Red armies.

Surrender of two Nazi corps commanders and two major generals, together with 18,000 soldiers, indicated the seriousness of the Germans' flight.

Russians overwhelmed the Germans at Ploesti and Galati, anchors of the once vaunted Nazi defense line, and rolled on through the oil fields of Ramnoul-Sarat, 75 miles northeast of Bucharest. Ploesti is 57 miles southwest of the advancing Red armies.

LT. ALICE MILLER WINS BRONZE STAR

Lieut. Alice A. Miller, wife of Tech. Sgt. Clayton L. Miller of 352 S. Union ave., has been distinguished as the first army nurse to be awarded the Bronze Star medal in France for "meritorious service against the enemy," relatives here learned recently in a letter from France.

Serving with a group of 40 other army nurses, Lieut. Miller had been in France since shortly after D-day and she wrote her mother-in-law, Mrs. Homer Yingling, 952 S. Union ave., that she felt "very proud and very humble" over receiving the first medal given an army nurse in France.

Her husband, Tech. Sgt. Miller, a Salem man, is now stationed in England but his family here believes he has been transferred to France. He and his wife met in England before the invasion but haven't seen each other since then. She has been overseas since November, 1943, and he since April, 1944.

CHUNGKING, Aug. 28.—Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters confirmed today a fresh attack by American Liberators on the vicinity of Shanghai, and said storage areas at the mouth of the Whang-poo were blasted.

Woosung, important Japanese storage area, is at the mouth of the river, 13 miles from Shanghai.

This was the second attack on the Shanghai region by planes of the U. S. 14th air force under Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault. Several weeks ago Liberators blasted the former Italian luxury lined Conte Verde.

FRENCH CHEER ALLIED HEADS

Paris Gives Eisenhower Ovation: Snipers Spoil De Gaulle Parade

(By Associated Press)
PARIS, Aug. 28.—A new French government of war being set up in liberated Paris today after a frenzied weekend in which Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was given a tumultuous welcome, the Germans bombed the city, and Gen. Charles De Gaulle escaped death or injury from sniper bullets.

Nearly all of the directors of the French resistance movements, who will have prominent parts in the new government, were in the city. The Allies government was en route.

Quartus Cerat, head of all French resistance, was appointed minister-at-large under De Gaulle. Cerat's name, like that of others in the resistance movement, is an assumed one.

Crowds jammed the Champs-Elysees, yesterday and shouted themselves hoarse as Gen. Eisenhower and his British, French, and American staffs made a ceremonial tour of the city that ended in the shadow of the Arc De Triomphe.

There the smiling four-star general told cheering Parisians: "I have come here to pay the tribute of the Allied forces to the indomitable spirit of Paris."

PFC. ALLEN MOSER, GUILFORD, KILLED

County Youth Is Fatally Wounded In Burma Battle On July 17

Mrs. Golden Swiger of Guilford today was notified by the War department of the death of her brother, Pfc. Allen Henry Moser, 33, in action in Burma July 17.

The former employee of the Babcock-Wilcox Co. in Barberton was fatally wounded in the battle for Myitkyina in Burma while serving with the 879th A/B Engineers battalion.

In service two years, Pfc. Moser entered the army April 27, 1942, and trained at Keesler field, Miss., and Lincoln air field, Neb., going overseas last January. He served in North Africa and India before going to the Burma front.

Born July 21, 1910 in Guilford, Moser, he attended the Guilford school and spent most of his life in the vicinity. He was killed four days before his 34th birthday.

Surviving are his sister, Mrs. Ernest K. Moser, serving with the army in England; George, Floyd and Warren of Guilford and Grant Moser of Alliance.

Troops Cross Marne River, Seize Meaux

By The Associated Press
SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Aug. 28.—American troops, sweeping in a wide area threatening German lines of retreat into the Reich, have crossed the Marne and captured Meaux in the loop of the historic river 23 miles east of Paris.

The Germans were yielding the battleground of the first World war without a fight as the Americans swept on through Meaux unchecked. Sedan, a famous battlefield in 1870 and 1940, was 105 miles to the north-east.

Toward the sea the British established a fifth bridgehead across the Seine, swinging their forces across the river near Louviers, between Vernon and Point-De-L'Arche where the Canadians have crossed.

For the first time in this war American troops were fighting on a battlefield of the first World war. The quaint town of Meaux marked the high tide of the German attempt to take Paris in September, 1914—an attempt which ended with the Allied victory of the first battle of the Marne when the Paris taxicab army stemmed the German tide.

Most of Nation, Yuma Excepted, Shivers In Abnormal Weather

(By Associated Press)
From Wichita to Boston the nation shivered in abnormally low temperatures.

It never got above 65 yesterday in Kansas City, the third day in a row that the thermometer had set a record for a low maximum. And a mark that had stood for 66 years in Charlotte, N. C., fell chattering when the mercury dipped to 54.8.

Fires were lit in North Georgia (low 59), and in Indianapolis (59), while fall clothes were trotted out on New York's Fifth avenue (57).

And many of the 30,000 fans at the Athletics-Red Sox baseball game in Philadelphia (51) were tickled they had fetched along their footballs. Boston had a low of 53, Des Moines and Detroit 52.

But the queerest quirk came in Kansas. Not only was it cold, it was wet. And on these normally hot, dry Kansas plains cold and wet are two adjectives usually out of place this time of year.

Streams which in many a Kansas August won't run a cup full a month are gushing from bank to bank, with flood stages reported on the Kaw, the Blue, the Missouri.

But in Florida, in southern Texas and on west and up the coast, it was weather pretty much as usual. (Exception: Denver's eight-inch hail storm (Saturday). And things certainly were humming in Yuma, Ariz., where the thermometer hit 113.

The push through Meaux, 10 miles beyond the first-world war foothold along the Marne at Legny, was described as meeting virtually no opposition. I gage the Americans an assault line from which they could turn in a deep encirclement—or cut off—the rocket bomb coast.

Northwest of Paris, in the area forming the left side of the Allied line, British Second army and Canadian First army troops poured into four bridgeheads over the Seine river and struck out in a mighty pursuit aimed at the rocket bomb coast in the Pas De Calais.

Rouen and Havre were threatened with envelopment by this drive. The Germans already were reported evacuating Le Havre, except for a few rearguards and demolition troops, and were said to be streaking east toward Germany under pulverizing aerial attacks.

PFC. C. R. WIGGERS HURT IN FRANCE

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wiggers, 712 N. Elsworth ave., today received word from the War department that their son, Pfc. Charles R. Wiggers, 20, was seriously wounded in France where he was serving with the 30th Infantry.

Pfc. Wiggers, who has been in service a year and a half and overseas since last May, was England before being transferred to France five weeks before he was hurt. He trained at Fort Jackson, S. C. and was employed at the Votaw market before entering the army.

His address is Pfc. Charles R. Wiggers, 35664893, Detachment of Patents, 4143 U. S. Army hospital, APO 204, in care of postmaster, New York, N. Y.

HEAVY TRUCK TIRE QUOTA IS BOOSTED

CLEVELAND, Aug. 28.—The Office of Price Administration has announced that 3,215 heavy duty truck and bus tires will be allocated to the 19 northeastern Ohio counties of the Cleveland district in September, compared with 1,971 tires released during August.

William A. Maynard, OPA district rationing executive, warned the increase would not be sufficient for all essential needs. He urged continued conservation.

Passenger car grade 1 tires will total 37,961 for the Cleveland district next month, compared with 39,627 tires allocated during the current month, Maynard said.

The northeastern Ohio district includes counties of Ashland, Ashtabula, Carroll, Columbiana, Cuyahoga, Erie, Geauga, Huron, Lake, Lorain, Mahoning, Medina, Portage, Richland, Stark, Summit, Trumbull, Tuscarawas and Wayne.

THE REST OF MY LIFE WITH YOU

by Faith Baldwin

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

Irene shook her head and sat up. "I'm fine," she said calmly, "and for heaven's sake, you needn't worry about a diagnosis. I'll tell you, we're going to have a baby."

"That's fine news!" beamed Matthew. He took her in his arms and kissed her. "Lord, this is great!" He asked, "Have you seen Leming?"

Today at lunchtime. It's true though I've suspected for quite a while that I wasn't sure and—some nurse you turned out to be and as for me—He chuckled. Then he said firmly, "Out of the office you must go."

Irene said, "I'm all right really. I can stay on a little while longer if only to break in a new nurse. I know one, and I think she'd come. You remember her, don't you? Elizabeth Nelsen. She was in my class."

"Nelsen?" He frowned. "Tall blond girl, good figure?" "That's the one," said Irene, laughing. "But it would be more to the point of you had remembered what a good nurse she is. She's had of private duty and she wants to get married."

"Well," parried Matthew, "I don't like married women in an office."

"How about me?" "You're different. First thing I know Nelson will have a baby."

"They won't be able to afford marriage, for a long while," said Irene, "and by then perhaps, again, softly, wonderingly—"our baby will be walking and I can leave him with Nellie, and—"

"You're away ahead of me," observed Matthew. He rose and looked down at her. "And it's time you went to bed. Doctor's orders."

"If Dr. Leming says I may stay."

"Okay," Matthew agreed. "We'll have it up to him. Boy, wait till mother hears this!"

"She knows. I told her tonight."

He looked disappointed, a little chastised, and Irene said swiftly, "I'm sorry, dear. But she suspected something and I had to tell her, didn't I?"

"Of course." He rose, leaned down, and kissed her. "This calls for a drink," he said as he went prowling out around the pantry and came back bearing a glass of champagne. He held it toward her and she touched the rim of the glass to her mouth. Matthew flung back his dark head and drank. "To my son!"

She insisted upon going to the office the next morning. She felt remarkably well.

Matthew, between calls, managed to get to Dr. Leming's office. Leming was a big man with enormous hands and a shock of fine white hair—grinned at Matthew.

"So Irene's told you."

"Yes. How is she?" "How would she be? She's perfectly normal," said the older man. Matthew grinned cheerfully, but said, "She feels rotten."

"My dear boy, most of 'em do under such circumstances."

"Sure," cautioned Matthew, "but she isn't just any woman, you understand."

"I do," declared Dr. Leming. "When my first child was born I made a fool of myself. Dr. Harley delivered her. He was the best then."

All before your time, my boy." He was silent, remembering. Matthew said, "Irene wants to keep on at the office for as long as she can. She... well, we've always worked together. She's my right hand, really. But it's up to you. And she's specially anxious to train the next candidate for the job."

Dr. Leming said, "Only if she feels up to it. She must not overdo. I knew Irene before you did. She had a cast-iron conscience. She is a perfectionist, poor girl. She'll worry more, and do herself more harm if she leaves the office—that is, at the present time—than if she stayed."

"All right," declared Matthew and rose. "Thanks and all that. I'm perfectly satisfied, as long as she's in your hands."

Matthew left Leming's office and returned to his own. He told Irene what Leming had said. She sat there, small and frail in her crisp white uniform, and listened. She promised, "I'll be good. I'll do just as he says. If you like, I'll ask Elizabeth to come to dinner one night this week. We could talk things over with her... she might come soon. I could train her, and perhaps relieve her now and then."

Matthew nodded. Then he said, "Bill's out on a case—looks like polio. Confound this rotten sultry weather anyway! And Sam's operating. Boy, wait till I tell them!"

Irene asked, "You want to tell them, now?"

"Sure, why not? You don't mind, do you?"

"No, of course not," she could imagine Matthew telling them, and Bill shouting, "Where are the cigars? Or if it's too soon, how about a cigarette?" and Sam with his slightly hesitant speech saying, "Congratulations, Mat..." But somehow she would have liked it to have been their secret for a little while, theirs and Mary's.

Once in a while, in flashes, he could read her mind, or part of it, or something she was thinking got across to him after a fashion, for he said now, "I'll try and stop in to see Mother today, if I can."

"Do," she said, "and give her my love."

The telephone rang on her desk and her even voice said, "Dr. Norman's office."

Late in the afternoon Matthew went around to his mother's apartment. She was not at home yet but Kate expected her any minute. She offered him iced tea. He accepted graciously.

The smaller apartment Mary had leased was pleasant. He sat there, relaxed, feeling very comfortable until Mary came in, carrying her hat in her hand. Her head ached dully, from the heat and following a violent discussion with a recalcitrant client. Not that Mary had been violent.

"Hi, grandma!" grinned Matthew. He rose and set down the frosted glass, which instantly made a mark on the little table. "How does it feel?"

"Wonderful," said his mother. "I'm terribly happy for you both, and for myself. May I spoil him, please?"

"Him, him! You and Irene, you'd think there weren't any girls in the world."

She thought, somehow, with so masculine a father one always thinks of boy babies; not that it's a scientific attitude. Aloud, she said, "But most men would like their first-born to be a son." "That's a fallacy," asserted Matthew. "I like girl babies, little cuddly ones with big eyes and all that. But it wouldn't make any difference," he took her shoulders and shook her, gently, saying, "It's well, isn't it? Now I've got to go."

"May I tell Judith?" "Judith? Oh, Judy Lambert. Of course. Where is she?"

"In California. But they are coming back here to live. It seems that Ella hasn't been very well. And so a change of climate—"

"Sounds as if it was the wrong way round. Sure, tell her," he repeated, and felt a little self-conscious, for no good reason.

"Matthew?" "Yes."

"Irene," said his mother quietly, "I worry about her. Be good to her, my dear."

His face was almost comic it was so utterly blank, amazement having momentarily erased all expression. He said after a moment, "Good to her. I—Look here, I don't beat my women!"

Mary began to laugh. She said, "Of course not. You love her and she loves you. You're fine together. I was just talking as a woman talks."

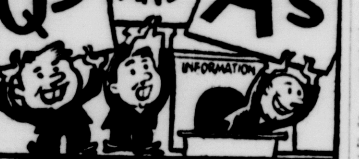

She added softly, "Your father was wonderful to me before you were born."

"Naturally," said Matthew. He bent and kissed her. "Bye." He said, "and you'd better start wearing bonnets. Because next spring she said, smiling, "I'll start saving for an electric train."

She heard him laughing, down the corridor, after the door had closed behind him.

This guarantees you telephone service in your proper turn

If you're ordering new telephone service, the chances are that you have a long wait ahead. For the last three years, no new telephone equipment has been manufactured for civilian use. All new lines, switchboards and telephones have marched to war. At home, the war effort, public health and security have first call on the telephone facilities available. Heretofore, civilian needs have been met through our normally large reserve facilities. But these facilities are exhausted now. New service is available only through disconnections, and there's a long, long line waiting for that service. In many cases, the delay in installation may be for the duration or longer, as the end of the war will not solve our problem. Replacement of telephone equipment is a lengthy manufacturing and installation process. Your request for service is filed. While we cannot tell at this time when we will be able to install telephone service for you, we do promise you this: Your application will not be forgotten and it will be filled in its proper turn.

Bishop-Hinchliffe Marriage Vows Exchanged At Church

In a lovely church wedding Saturday afternoon, Miss Dorothy Jean Bishop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Bishop of W. State st., became the bride of William L. Hinchliffe, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hinchliffe, Sr., of S. Landy ave.

Vows were exchanged before a setting of palms, ferns and baskets of white gladioli, lighted by white tapers in two seven-branch candelabra, in the ceremony at 4 p. m. in the Christian church, Rev. C. E. Evans officiated. The church was filled with friends and relatives of the couple.

A program of nuptial music was played before the ceremony by Mrs. Ruth Perry, organist, who accompanied Miss Naomi Shinn, vocalist. Her numbers were "Because" and "I Love You Truly."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white tulle gown, lace-trimmed, fashioned with shirred bodice, gored skirt with lace inserts and long tulle train edged in lace. Her dress was designed with sweetheart neckline and long fitted sleeves, pointed over the hands. Her fingering net veil was arranged in a taria of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white gladioli, centered with gardenia, and showered with maidenhair fern and white clematis tied into white satin ribbons.

Miss Betty Rau of Pittsburgh, cousin of the bride, as maid of honor wore a blue satin and chiffon frock, fashioned with shirred bodice and full chiffon skirt gathered at the waistline. She wore a fingertip veil of net matching her dress and held at the head in a cluster of white gladioli and clematis which was used in her cascade bouquet.

Reception At Home

Misses Edith Ketterer of Bellevue, Pa., a cousin of the bride, and Miss Joan Hinchliffe, sister of the groom, were dressed of similar design, in shades of pink and in blue. They wore fingertip veils of matching net caught in clusters of peach and pink gladioli. Their cascade bouquets were of peach-pink gladioli, yellow baby's breath and blue browning.

Buell Carpenter of Beloit served as best man for Mr. Hinchliffe and Jack Fineran of Salem, a cousin of the bride, and Alfred Hahlen of Alliance, were ushers.

Mrs. Bishop, mother of the bride, wore a beige crepe gown with yellow and brown flower print bodice and brown accessories and a corsage of pink and yellow roses and yellow baby's breath.

Mrs. Hinchliffe, mother of the groom, wearing a black dress with white accessories, had a gardenia corsage.

Bringing Up Baby In The Right Way

Prepared by the Staff of the Child Study Association of America, Inc.

AP Features

When your baby is 12 or 15 months old, start training him to be dry. Take him to the toilet every two hours. Soon he will begin to tell you when he wants to go.

Slowly he will learn that it is more comfortable to be dry, and more satisfying, too, since he knows you want him that way.

He may still be wet at night and perhaps during his nap for some time to come. He may be three or more before he stays dry all night. Only if your child wets his bed well past this age should you be concerned. If he does, talk it over with your doctor, for in an older child it may be a sign that he needs special help.

Remember not to force Johnny beyond what he can do. Too much pressure in these things can easily make him stubborn and resentful. He will begin to say "No," to everything you ask of him, because in this one thing you have asked too much.

Scolding or punishing won't teach Johnny to stay dry. It will only make him less anxious than ever to please you.

Help him work it out at his own pace, when he is ready for it and able to begin to share the responsibility.

This is the surest way to help him learn. This is discipline at its best.

Insulation Helps Home Owners Save Vital Fuel

Hardly an hour passes but you hear or read of a strong appeal to save fuel.

The strong warning to conserve fuel came from Harold Jakes, department of the interior. It was directed both to domestic and industrial users. The priority position of fuel conservation is second only to buying of War bonds.

With critical war industry still needing huge amounts of fuel to maintain their production, you can help conserve fuel by winterizing your home now through proper insulation.

R. B. Finley of the Finley Music Co., phone 3141, who is the Columbiana county representative for John's-Manville, "Blown" Rock Wool insulation makes no effort to "sell you" but he will answer any question and prove to you the real saving you can expect and point out the many other desirable advantages of John's-Manville "Blown" Rock Wool insulation.

You should arrange with him to have this work done before those cold winds make a draft, chilly house, of your home.

More than 173,000 sick and wounded patients of the United States and Allied forces were evacuated by military planes in 1943.

The axis deer is found only in Allied countries, India and Ceylon.

Quality Comes First For Old Reliable Dairy Items

In every community there are places of business which the more discriminate patronize simply because the merchandise or service is superior. That's the reason so many drive or walk out to the Old Reliable dairy to enjoy real home-made ice cream.

Real quality ice cream is a luxury these days. So much on the market has been cheapened by reason of restrictions. Yet occasionally there is a dairy who can meet the requirements and at the same time produce exactly the same product as before the restrictions were demanded. Anyone who has tasted the Old Reliable Dairy vanilla home-made ice cream realizes it is the full flavored quality product as sold in the years past.

Quality is the magic of the rapid growth of the Old Reliable Dairy. Virgil Wilson, manager, insists on quality, feeling all else will take care of itself and the growth of his business is proof he is correct. Milk, cottage cheese, buttermilk and ice cream are the specialties so many know to be superior in flavor and richness.

Fleet Service Rules For Motorists Urged by Hine

Many car owners faced with the necessity of making 2-to-10-year-olds last for the duration are learning valuable lessons in car care from the operators of large fleets. H. I. Hine, local Ford dealer, points out.

"Fleet operators know that no matter how little a unit is driven it requires certain care every month. That is why they service trucks by the calendar as well as by mileage. Motor transport operators call periodic check-ups 'preventive maintenance'."

Today, it is every car owner's duty to get the greatest possible mileage from his limited ration and to make his car last as long as possible. With rationing, however, the car often stands in the garage for several days while batteries run down, tires deteriorate and dirt collects at lubrication points. Under these conditions, unless a car is serviced every month the driver is in for trouble. Wise motorists will take a tip from experienced fleet operators and adopt a system of periodic "preventive maintenance" service checking, dealers agree.

BATON ROUGE, La.—Hunter Huckabee, Louisiana's new safety director, didn't anticipate ribbing from his job, but the State Legislature had ideas of its own.

A resolution directed him to purchase a uniform of the following specifications: Dark blue trousers with gold stripes, scarlet tunic with gold epaulettes and a sword of appropriate length.

He was then directed to appear on a specified date, so attired, before the bar of each house.

Suppose every man, woman and child in this town should be KILLED!

This is a typical American small town, with a population of about 3000.

If every living soul in it should suddenly be struck dead, what a fearful shock it would be to America!

Well, 3283 Americans were struck dead in a single day not so long ago—on just one of the many battlefronts on which we're fighting. But the papers didn't scream with horror. On the contrary—they blazoned forth the good news: "LOSSES LIGHT!"

Maybe the fact that it's good news when only a townful of Americans are wiped out will give you an idea of the gigantic war we're fighting today. Maybe it will help drive home to us the fact that now—right now—we're making the supreme military effort of this whole conflict.

That effort must be matched by the supreme financial effort of the war—at home!

Right now, it's up to us to buy War Bonds as we've never bought them before—and to keep on buying War Bonds until the last vestige of a will to fight has been thoroughly knocked out of every Jap and Nazi!

It will mean sacrifice—certainly.

But when American youngsters are dying bloodily by thousands, "sacrifice" is not a word that's ours to use.

Salem Athletics Beaten By East Liverpool In Bat-Fest, 9-8

LOTS OF HITS, RUNS FEATURE SEE-SAW GAME

Loss Ends Salem's Three-Week Winning Streak; Play on Wednesday

Lots of hitting and lots of scoring featured the see-saw 9 to 8 victory of the East Liverpool Red Sox over the Salem Athletics yesterday at Centennial park—a victory which ended the three-week winning streak of the Salem outfit. Starting things out with a run each in the first frame, the two teams scored in the second, but Liverpool grabbed the edge 3-2. The third and fourth frames went without a tally and in the last of the fifth Salem again broke the ice with a two-run spree that sent them into the lead, 4-3.

In the sixth frame the Red Sox grabbed four runs and a lead, one, making the score 7-5. Another Salem run in the seventh made it 8-7, in favor of the locals.

Liverpool came through with the tying and winning runs in the first of the ninth and then put Salem down in half without a score to win the contest.

Featuring a lot of hard hitting—15 hits by the Red Sox and 12 by Salem—the game included seven doubles, two of them by Third Baseman Bob Springer of the Red Sox.

In three tries this year, East Liverpool has beaten Salem just once. Harlan John Proctor worked the game for Liverpool and Veteran Walt Smith performed the mound assignment for Salem. Each squad contributed five errors in the bargain.

Sponsor Scott Chisholm said today that plans for the team embody playing games through September, instead of closing operations on Labor Day as previously was announced.

The Salem squad will try to climb back into the win column with a game against the Alliance Babcox-Wilcox team here Wednesday.

Basketbiff

Lt. Harry Light, V-12 instructor at Penn State, has inaugurated new game of combination basketball and boxing. All players wear 16-ounce boxing gloves and man with the ball is bait for a sock from anyone on opposition team. Fellow with ball seems headed for a flop.

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—Lt. Harry Light, V-12 physical instructor, has introduced a new game to Navy and Marine trainees at Penn State. Lieutenant Light, former William and Mary athlete, brought the game with him from Ohio Wesleyan, where he used it during his last tour of duty.

Basketbiff, as they call it, is simply basketball in 16-ounce gloves, with everybody permitted to commit everything but mayhem. The man with the ball must also defend himself against assault. Single or collectively, the opposition has the privilege of belting him anywhere on the head or body.

The game is supposed to teach young men how to take care of themselves. It is supposed to develop aggressiveness, overcome timidity in a boy, convince him that taking a whack on the nose or whiskers is not the terrifying experience he may formerly have thought it was.

The Navy has done a grand job of physical conditioning, but a few crackpot ideas have entered the program, and this is one of them. Another was members of the Pre-Flight schools attempting to break one another's record for number of consecutive sit-ups, etc. All that did was tear young men apart.

IN the first place, basketball can't be played in 16-ounce gloves. Basketball coaches strive for good ball-handling, and experience difficulty getting it from carefully picked squads playing with their bare hands.

In basketbiff, the instant the man in possession is hit, he drops the ball, so why bring basketball into the picture at all?

The first premise of boxing is to protect yourself. You move with and parry punches.

In basketbiff, the man with the ball is worse off than a contestant in a blind-folded battle royal. He has his hands full of basketball, and assailants can see what they're hitting, wind up and take potshots.

Thus in basketbiff trainees get none of the benefits of their sport.

PHYSICAL conditioning is designed to build the body, not rip it apart. Basketbiff is palpably devised to break bones or impair vital organs.

And a slippery hardwood floor is there for heads to strike. There is grave danger of someone being seriously injured.

The man in possession having no opportunity to protect himself, basketbiff is more likely to create timidity than overcome it.

In more than 30 years of close association with athletics, I don't know of a single first class coach or trainer who would permit boys to play basketball in boxing gloves even for their own amusement.

Boxing and basketball are tough enough on their own.

Certainly they don't mix—unless you want to kill somebody.

Confusion!

Class A Picture Marred By Four-Team Tie; Ends This Week

One more week's Class A softball play—starting today—should clear the now confused picture in the city's senior loop.

With four aggregations threatening each other for fourth round honors, some eliminating will have to take place this week. At the present time, Paxsons are leading the league by the slight margin of one game. Having won five and lost two, Paxsons stand a hair on the top of the list as the News, China and Demings teams each have four wins and two losses with one game to play.

Today's card is scheduled to play off the one remaining game for the China and Deming team. The China meets Mullins at 6 p. m. and Demings will try against Jim's at 7. The News is booked against the Sheen aggregation at 6 tomorrow in the final regularly scheduled fourth round contest.

Joe Kelley, league manager, said after these three games are disposed of, a play-off for round honors will be held, possibly beginning on Tuesday to determine which squad is fourth round champ.

If all the teams involved in the leadership win their games, drawings will be held to determine who plays who in the four-team play-off. Three games will be scheduled in the play-off, Kelley said.

Wayne Sidingr Coaching Bantams

Facing the Akron East Corsairs, Sidingr's lightweight charges will begin a season slated to run through November.

Some Hitting! Coach McBride Has Roster Of 16 Lettermen Back For Leetonia's 1944 Grid Card

"Hoss" Wright, News First Sacker, Clubbing Them At .519 Pace

Orrie "Hoss" Wright, first baseman for the Salem News Class A softball team, is now in the midst of the most rapid-fire batting average rise recorded in the senior loop this season.

Always a threat at the plate either right or left handed, Wright has been slugging them with frightening regularity during the fourth round rise of his squad to a four-way tie for first place.

For eight straight games, "Old Hoss" has been tagging them consistently until his batting average, once .080 has soared to a dangerous .279.

Just for example, figure it this way. Wright, eight games ago had been at bat 34 times and had just three hits for his .080 average. In those eight games since then he has batted 27 times, has 14 hits, four of which are doubles, one a triple and another a homer. In those eight games he is hitting a more .519 and has scored nine Salem News runs.

To top it all off he is playing a bang-up game in his initial sack position and has pitched four contests for the News.

Softball Schedule

CLASS A (Final Fourth Round Games)

Monday
6—Mullins vs. China.
7—Jim's vs. Demings.

Tuesday
6—News vs. Sheens.

NEW YORK—In 11 games at the Yankee stadium this season, Vernon Stephens of the Browns batted only 20 and drove in no more than three runs.

Down Leetonia way, where Coach James L. McBride builds big football teams from the little town, things look mighty bright on the gridiron, horizon as 16 lettermen—three of them with three years' varsity experience—are back in the moleskins for a tough fall schedule.

With everyone back from last year with the exception of Dick Aiken, a substitute end who graduated, McBride is hoping to better his last year's mark of six wins and two losses. With five of the eight games on the card out of town this year, the Leetonia coach is seeking a home game for Sept. 30, now an open date.

The trio of three-year men back this season are Ed Duco, star half-back, Tony Dominic, veteran full-back and oe Bernard, r. captain and center.

Besides that trio of vets, McBride also has as lettermen, James Beilhart, Guy Beltempo, Lawrence Duco, Fred Dominic, Dave Driscoll, Jim Driscoll, Dale Klingensmith, Pat Mancuso, Kenny Spear, James Stewart, Lee Todd, Earl Van Fossen and Jack White.

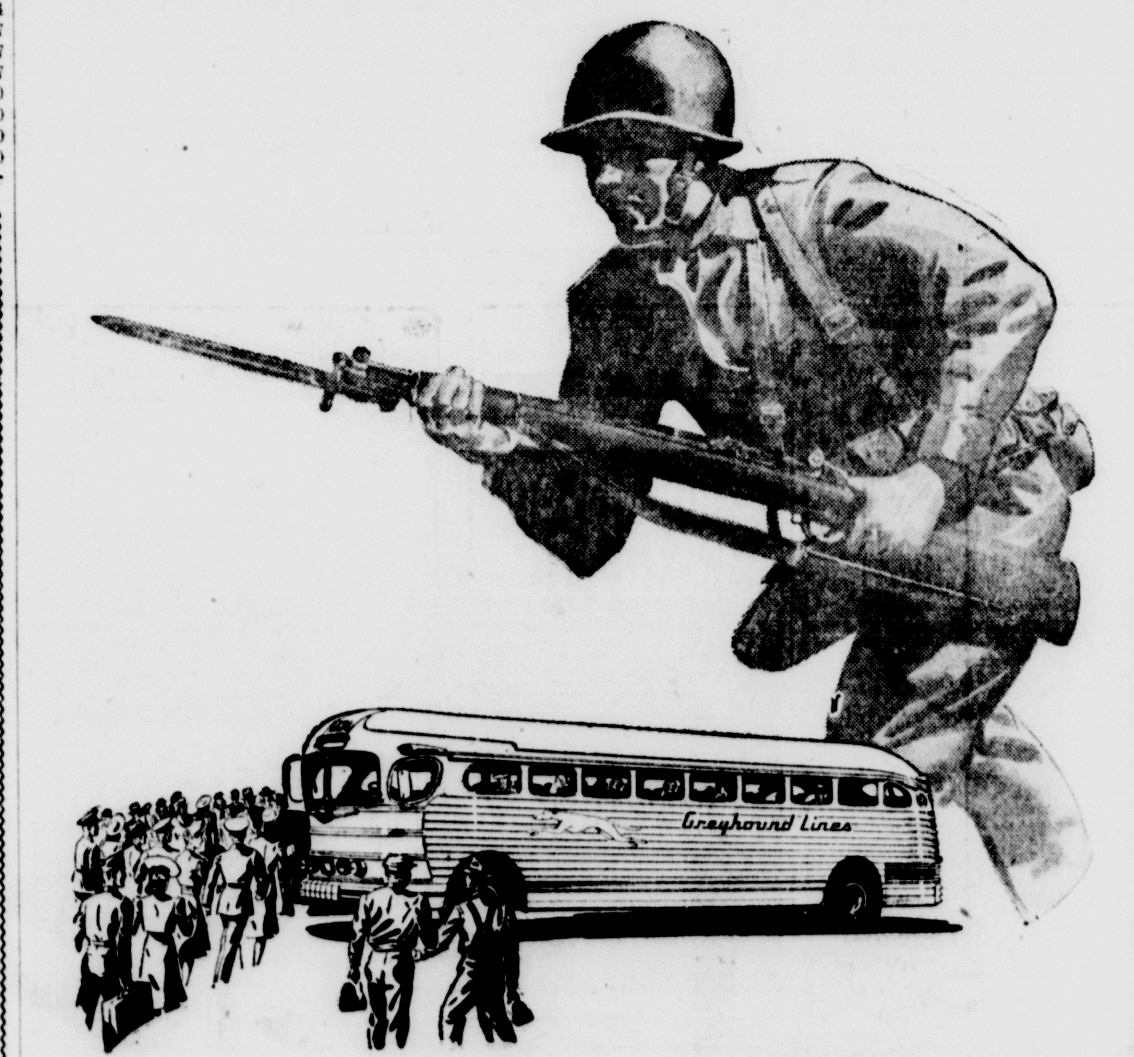

Men who collected numerals for their play last season and from whom McBride is expecting a great deal of service this year are, Alvin Briden, Joe Jeswald, Robert Kornbau, Vincent Muraco, Sam Stumpo, Dean Vestal and Ross Vestal.

Workouts have been going on during last week with a twice a day schedule on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Scrimmaging will get under way this week, the coach said, and things are shaping up in preparation for that first night game with East Palestine on Sept. 15.

Here is the schedule:
Sept. 15—At East Palestine *
Sept. 23—Canfield, home.
Sept. 30—Open.

Oct. 6—At Salem *
Oct. 14—At Columbiana.
Oct. 21—Goshen, home.
Oct. 28—At Lisbon.
Nov. 4—Fifth, home.
Nov. 11—At Carrollton.
*Night games.

NEW YORK—Hank Borowy has yielded more home runs than any other Yankee pitcher this season—11.

Because of the present critical tire shortage...

Please DON'T TRAVEL OVER LABOR DAY!

In the whole period of the war this Labor Day will be the most critical for transportation. Intercity buses simply cannot carry all the people who will need or want to travel—because hundreds of these buses are temporarily standing idle, without tires.

Your help is needed in meeting this crisis. Even if your Labor Day trip is highly essential, postpone it a few days if you possibly can. If you must go, please be prepared for possible delays and unavoidable crowding.

Nothing would give us greater pleasure than to serve you now—but the urgent needs of war come first. We know you will understand and cooperate as you have always done.

We feel sure that it won't be long until all our buses are back in service. With a proud war record behind them, and an urgent job of transporting manpower still ahead, America's buses must be kept rolling!

TEACHER SHORTAGE HITS RURAL AREAS

Cities Fare Pretty Well, Survey Shows; Legislature Meets Sept. 5

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Aug. 22—How to get teachers back to schools is a rural problem, a survey of Ohio's schools showed today.

Cleveland, Cincinnati, Columbus, Dayton, Youngstown, Warren and Steubenville reported no shortage. Lima said its full complement of teachers was reached today and Marion and Lancaster listed only two to go.

County schools however, had a different situation, since most of 2,500 vacancies reported two months ago by the State Education department existed in their ranks.

The legislature, meeting in special session Sept. 5, will be asked to appropriate about $8,000,000 for teacher salary increases. Education Director Kenneth C. Ray reported.

The director added that each teacher would receive about a 10 per cent pay hike to bring his salary more on a par with industry which has lured many instructors out of rural and small city classrooms.

A partial solution has been found in temporary certification of instructors who lack qualifications necessary to a regular teaching certificate but who have had some teaching experience or training.

Dr. C. E. McCorkle, superintendent of the Shelby county schools, termed the calling of a special legislature a "God-send" in keeping up morale of teachers who had remained at their posts.

Supt. J. E. Way of Pike county schools said, however, "It is going a little late to be of any great benefit this year. I do think it will help materially in getting teachers to return next year, though."

State officials said the state-wide average salary was about $1,700. Teacher salaries in city schools average $2,000. Way reported the minimum annual salary for Pike county teachers was about $950 and the average $1,350.

E. LIVERPOOL HOPES TO WIPE OUT DEBTS

EAST LIVERPOOL, Aug. 22—A $2,000,000 increase in valuation under a recently completed Columbia county real estate reappraisal is this city's only hope of additional funds to liquidate $42,000 in delinquent bills which accumulated in 1942, City Auditor E. Allan McKeever said today.

The valuation boost, on which taxes now are being collected, will mean an estimated $10,000 a year revenue, which would permit payment of the overdue accounts in four years.

Now operating on a pay-as-you-go basis, the city is meeting all obligations when due, but there is no chance of paying old accounts without a bond issue which would require a vote.

The bills include $23,000 due the Ohio Power Co., for street and public building lighting and $19,000 for supplies purchased from merchants.

FRENCH CHEER

Yesterday the skies were aglow from the light of fires. The death toll was placed at 110, with 719 injured.

When the raiders came over, people were still in the streets celebrating, despite the battle which broke out Saturday afternoon when roof-top snipers started firing during the victory parade for Gen. De Gaulle.

Several spectators were killed and dozens were wounded as the shooting spread, a short time after De Gaulle had sped along the parade route at a 40-mile-an-hour clip.

De Gaulle's victory address was postponed.

A simple low mass was said at the cathedral of Notre Dame yesterday, and prayers were offered for all who had died in defense of France. A grand service of thanksgiving was not held because priests feared the worshippers would afford targets for German sniper and trench raiders still holding out in the city.

TOKIO, O., CONTENT TO KEEP ITS NAME

TOKIO, O.—Although this town has a name like the Japanese capital, there is no local wartime sentiment for changing it.

Mrs. Edward Metzner, the postmistress, says that residents fancy the general interest the town's name attracts in other parts.

The Tokio postoffice receives many letters from collectors, asking that the envelopes they enclose be mailed to them postmarked "Tokio."

Thousands of such requests came after Pearl Harbor, Mrs. Metzner says.

Sgt. Vincent Metzner, who was assistant postmaster and storekeeper before he entered the Army now keeps an Army store and post-office on Guadalupe.

"I hope to get to Japan," he wrote recently. "I want to send a letter from Tokio to Tokio, O."

The town was named Tokio by David Hughes, one-time postmaster, who was troubled with misdirected letters because the name then was Jonestown.

Too many of the town's letters ended up in Jonestown, Pa., or Jamestown, N. Y.

Nazi Snipers Plague Paris

sum, and in other eating places.

At the same hour Rev. Elsie Matti of Mt. Gilead, spoke in the church in the interest of missions. Mrs. Matti has served at the China mission since 1925 and returned home on the Gripsholm two years ago when it made its first trip with American missionaries.

Hundreds Attend Service
It was announced Sunday afternoon that Miss Norma Freer of Toledo, a graduate of Cleveland Bible college, had been accepted by the Foreign missionary board for work in India, and will leave for her new post in the near future.

The offering taken at the two missionary services was $566. This money will be equally divided between "orphan" missionaries, who are located in countries where they are not permitted to send support, and for relief work in Asiatic countries.

Dr. William Kirby, Huntington Park, Calif., preached the sermon at the closing service Sunday evening. He warned against the tide of worldliness that is sweeping into the churches. Hundreds of people attended the Sunday services.

Plan Building Program
The church expects to erect two new buildings in Damascus as soon as the war is over. One will be a dormitory, to accommodate approximately 75 people. It will be a frame building, 30x70 feet with a basement for dining room and kitchen purposes. The committee in charge of plans for the dormitory made a recommendation at the Saturday afternoon session that it be located west of the Yearly meeting house. The other building will be a Memorial and will house the Friends Book concern, which at present is located in the home of Miss Anna Haldeman at Damascus.

Trustees for the proposed new home for retired ministers, missionaries and Christian workers are: Rev. Charles E. Haworth, Beall; Rev. Robert Mosher, Salem; Rev. Albert Fryhoff, Alliance; Rev. Edward Escolme, Tecumseh, Mich.; and Rev. John Barto, Bellefontaine.

Christian Endeavors of the church have contributed $3,000 for home and foreign mission work, their annual report revealed. There are 46 societies in the union with an active membership of 636, and 140 associate members.

The War Today

will resist fiercely, but their fate already is sealed. Thus they not only will lose absolutely vital supplies of grain, war minerals and oil, but the Danubian gateway into Germany will be in jeopardy.

Equally important is word that the Russians again are smashing at the Vistula front above Warsaw with the idea of flanking the capital. This city is the anchor of this powerful defensive line to which the Nazis are clinging for dear life. When that Vistula line cracks, the Germans will have nothing to shield them from the Red storm. Then will begin the great Nazi race for the frontier of the Reich, and as things now stand wouldn't be surprising to see Hitler running for shelter on both fronts at the same time.

It looks as though the Russians during the recent comparative lull had brought their extended communications up and got set for further wide-scale offensive operations which now are setting under way. Their exertions since the beginning of their summer offensive on June 23 have been titanic, since that time they've reclaimed vast territories and report the killing or capture of over a million Germans.
